

Help Bring Reusables for Take-Out to Alameda County!

DeliverZero, the nation's largest returnable, reusable packaging system, is bringing their services to restaurants in Alameda County, and you can help onboard new businesses.

Become a DeliverZero Ambassador!

- Get paid to help local restaurants eliminate single-use packaging
- Be a reuse leader in your community
- Get all you need for success, including a toolkit and online coaching sessions

Why Sign up Now?

- $1,000 Business Incentives from StopWaste
$1,000 in free DeliverZero services for the first 25 businesses that join.
- Get Recognized
The top 3 ambassadors will be featured on stage at the April 14, 2024 Earth Day Festival in New York City.
- We have momentum!
With growing consumer awareness, emerging local policies and reusable foodware systems ready, now is the time for change!

Learn more and sign up

About DeliverZero

Founded in 2019, DeliverZero offers restaurants a turnkey reusable foodware system, integrating with ordering platforms like DoorDash, UberEats and others. They handle all logistics, including the stocking, tracking, return collection, washing and redistribution of reusable containers. Businesses save over 40% on packaging costs, while gaining new customers and larger orders. DeliverZero operates successfully throughout the country, including LA, New York City, Denver and now Alameda County! Learn more at www.deliverzero.com.