With this project we were able to show the children the various ways to reuse material that otherwise would be thought of trash. We collected empty milk cartons, cardboard and more and together we created a robot which the children later named Roger.