

Yikuan Chen, Pleasanton

Honorable Mention Elementary Illustration

My 4Rs: Rethink, Rebuild, Reduce, Reuse

My (Re)Generation Action Story:

My 4rs are Rethink, Rebuild, reduce, and reuse. I think that people should rethink what they are doing and fix it because it is really harming the earth.

I also think that the people should rebuild the earth and not let the trash take over. I think that we should reduce the trash we made and not just throw them away. I think that people should reuse things that can be reused instead of using them once and throwing them away.

Yikuan's Story Continued:

In my art I drew lighting separating the two worlds. On the right side I drew a trash can pointing at the good world. It also has trash all around it to help it take over. In that world the water is so polluted that it is green and the land only has one tree left. This shows that if we keep silent about the things that matter our earth will soon die.

On the left side it shows that the land is healthy, the water is blue, and the land is green. I draw a rainbow to show that we still have hope to fix the thing we have done wrong, and make the world a better place to live in.