My 4Rs: Rethink, Replant, Remake, Recreate

The Unknown Devil

Angels, devils, and all those things you see in movies. In real life, you have already seen a lot of people controlled by devils, and they don't even realize it. Today, I will share with you a story about the unknown devil.

A long time ago, way before humans existed on Earth, there was the unknown devil, the scariest and meanest devil of all times. He does not have a form, and does not look scary at all, but it lies deeply inside Styrofoam, coal, plastic, bycatching nets, and a lot of things. Only one thing was in his way--nature. Nature's power was so strong that even the sun was helping it. The main god of nature: Pan, and the other gods and goddesses symbolizing nature: Gaia, Artemis, Demeter, Apollo, and Persephone were connecting all their powers together and forming a crystal that sealed the unknown devil away. After thousands of years, the humans' ancestors were born. The gorillas, monkeys, and chimpanzees cooperated with other animals and finally defeated the unknown devil.

All the peace continued... until one day, the chimpanzees betrayed the gods and stole their power to become human shaped.

Once the gods and goddesses found out the chimpanzees stole something from them, they were furious. That day, Athena, the goddess of wisdom, told all the gods that they could release the unknown devil and put them in the chimpanzees. They did that, but only some chimpanzees, or now humans became possessed.

Fortunately, you are not one, and help us defeat the unknown devil. It is easy because gods will help you. Another thing I have found out, Earth Day has been one day to help make some possessed people back to normal and damage the unknown devil. Start by sending letters and persuading people to stop doing bad things to harm the Earth. Let all do our part to reduce the waste. Together, we can create a world without any unknown devils! One last thing before we say "good bye," remember my 4 R's (rethink, replant, remake, and recreate).

My (Re)Generation Action Story:

Rethink, replant, remake, recreate For rethink, I wanted people to think again what world they want. For replant, I want people to plant plants. For remake, I want engineers to make more items that are not harmful to the Earth. For recreate, I want chefs to make more vegetarian diets, or made of white meat.
